Program Description

This program consists of working with students at an hearing impaired school or mentally challenged school in the morning and at our community school teaching English classes in the afternoons. We have strong relationships with these schools over the years and the age of students may be anywhere between 6 and 10 years.

These schools accept a non-formal approach to teaching and also followed partly with a curriculum. This means that we will not have to conform to the local Indian teaching methods or style, but everyone will be free to choose their own way of teaching and may bring their own ideas into class. It is important to understand that the methods of teaching are less important than the attitude of the participant towards the students. In addition, the subjects to be taught can alter, depending on current activities in the schools which might include, for example, environmental issues or geography.

The teaching program serves a dual purpose; of course it is meant to help children in India to have a chance to speak more English (as the teachers are not fluent in English) and secondly it will give you an insight into the Indian education system as well as a chance to become good friends with students and teachers.

It can be nice to bring presents with you for the students. In our experience, the students are less interested in toys (some typical toys of your country might be interesting), but pictures of your family/house/pets are always well received.

The participant will work as an assistant to a teacher with whatever skills they have. You will make an important contribution by improving students' development. It is an experience and memory neither you nor they will ever forget.
